The problem

Servlets can help us to create dynamic pages.

Dynamic page consists of static text and variables.

Variables are members of objects.

Static texts are files.

Template engines can create page from static text and objects.

Free-Marker

FreeMarker is a Java-based Template Engine, originally focusing on dynamic web page generation.

It's a general purpose template engine, with no dependency on servlets or HTTP or HTML, and so it's often used for generating source code, configuration files or e-mails.
